A new era in Wilmington education

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - The new Middle School on Carter Lane has been called everything from "beautiful" and "tremendous" to "extraordinary" and "awesome."

On Tuesday, August 29, it was also called something else, for the first time: "Open."

The buses pulled up to the curb and the front doors of the new Wilmington Middle School swung open on Tuesday, welcoming into its hallways and classrooms the first generation of sixth, seventh, and eighth graders to fill its lockers, dine in its cafeteria, and study at its library.

"Everything went very well," says Middle School Principal Suzanne Garfield, just moments after the first day concluded. "We were very pleased with the cooperation of the students. They seemed pleasantly surprised by their new building."

The new Middle School, as well as the other schools throughout the community, was certainly ready for them.

At the August 23 School Committee meeting, Administration and Finance Director Kevin Mahoney informed the committee members that all schools were in "excellent shape."

"The Public Buildings Department did an outstanding job," praised Mahoney, who noted that lots of furniture and materials needed to be transferred from school to school to adjust to the presence of the new Middle School.

Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell agreed.

"I really can't say enough how excellent the support has been for the custodial staff," said Superintendent O'Donnell. In terms of preparing the new Middle School and the others schools for readiness, she added, "They've done an extraordinary amount of work, and they did it ahead of schedule."

Approximately 80 teachers met at the Middle School with Garfield and Curriculum Director Dr. Lore Nielsen on August 21, 22 and 23. The purpose of such a gathering was to provide the faculty with their very first tour of the building and to discuss the new school's numerous procedures and policies.

"We showed each teacher where their new classroom will be," Dr. Nielsen told the School Committee. "They were happy to see their boxes there already, waiting for them."

A major emphasis placed on the three-day workshop entailed team-building between teachers from the North and West Intermediate Schools, the two locations that were combined this summer into one population at the new school.

Said Dr. Nielsen, "I am very happy to tell you that we didn't see a North faction and a West faction. We saw a new Wilmington Middle School."

According to Dr. Nielsen, the teachers from the two Intermediate Schools are not the only ones who are in the new classrooms. The Middle School is also the new home to two elementary school teachers who have been transferred from within the system, as well as four high school teachers and twelve recently hired ones.

"During this workshop, we saw many veteran teachers reaching out to the new ones," said Dr. Nielsen.

One segment of the workshop outlined Principal Garfield's prime curriculum goal, which is her literacy plan.

"The teachers responded well to that," said Dr. Nielsen. "There are a lot of challenges ahead, and this Middle School is ready to meet them."

In other school-related news, Jeanne Noonan, the new Coordinator of the school system's Extended Day Program, has told the Superintendent's Office that enrollment numbers for the just-begun school year are up. Dr. Nielsen relayed to the School Committee some of Noonan's facts and figures.

At the elementary level, 63 students are attending the morning Extended Day programs that are spread throughout the Boutwell Street and Wildwood Street and Woburn Street and Shawsheen Elementary Schools. In the afternoon programs, 103 students are enrolled.

At the North and West Intermediate Schools, as well as the new Middle School, 17 students are participating in the morning programs, while 41 are attending the afternoon sessions of Extended Day.

"This program is not just child care," said Dr. Nielsen. "It is very soundly grounded in supporting

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

Jerry Lewis must be resting up as we speak.

For many of us, this coming Labor Day will be a laid-back, sun-soaked occasion to slap some burgers on the grill, get in one last game of Volleyball, and say good-bye to what has otherwise been an almost cool, autumnlike summer.

For others, however, Labor Day marks a day of hope, a time of optimism in which a few dollars here and a few cents there can actually add up to whole millions that could one day be parlayed into a cure for Muscular Dystrophy.

Just as the sun shall rise and set, so shall Jerry Lewis take center-stage when the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon kicks off out west at 9 p.m. on Sunday, September 3. The telethon, which can be seen on television on WCVB Channel 5, will run 21 consecutive hours until 6 p.m. on Labor Day evening.

According to information provided by the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA), Muscular Dystrophy is actually an "umbrella" term that describes a number of neuromuscular diseases. In general terms, the disease is characterized by the weaknesses it creates in muscles.

The most "visible" example of the neuromuscular disease is called "Duchenne muscular dystrophy," and it is mostly found in young boys. Actually, you may have heard of these children. Many of them have been affectionately nicknamed over the years as "Jerry's Kids."

Although you may not know it at your first glance of the technical term, Amyotrophic Lateral

Search continues for MassBank robber

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Friday afternoons are traditionally busy for banks because customers with paychecks frequently like to cash them during their lunch hours. A robber must have been counting on such a high level of commotion when he robbed a bank on Lowell Street on Friday, August 25.

At a little past noon last Friday, a Hispanic male walked into the MassBank branch at 211 Lowell Street. He approached the counter and handed a teller a white hold-up note with demands for ten-and-twenty-dollar bills written in red ink. He spoke in a low voice.

No weapons were shown.

The teller complied with the man's criminal demand, and the robber fled on foot. According to witnesses, the man disappeared into the traffic at the intersection of Lowell and Woburn Streets.

Here is what is known about the suspect.

He is, as mentioned, a Hispanic male with light black skin. He stands approximately 5'11" and weighs approximately 150 pounds. He has been described as having a medium build.

At the time that he robbed MassBank, he was wearing blue shorts, a white tee-shirt, and a bluish-colored vest. He was also wearing a blue Red Sox hat, the kind that resembles a fisherman's hat in that its brim went all the way around his head. The suspect was unshaven.

OUT ON A LIMB. What comes up, must come down. Dan Cole, 13, of Wilmington, came down the easy way on the morning of Friday, August 25, when he climbed a tree in his neighborhood and got stuck 30 feet off the ground. Wilmington firefighters Lt. Ed Corcoran and Dan Feyler came to the rescue. That's Feyler in the bucket that helped give Dan a safe ride down. (Stu Neilson photo)

Voilex Group 100 new jobs coming to town

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Approximately 100 new jobs are coming to town.

Here's where they can be found: The Voilex Centre of Excellence, which is currently under construction at 30A Upton Drive in Wilmington.

The 24,000 square-foot facility, which began construction in June and should be ready to go in late September, will serve as an operating unit for a new division of Voilex Group, a worldwide and independent manufacturer of electrical power cords and electronic cable assemblies. The new division, which will provide engineering expertise and customer support and manufacturing services for RF products, will be called Voilex RF Technologies.

About those jobs. Here's just a sampling of the positions that will need to be filled once the Centre of Excellence is ready to excel: RF design engineers; production planners; buyers; product assemblers; customer service representatives; draftsmen; receptionists; janitors; shipping and receiving technicians; and more.

"We need anybody who helps make up an entire manufacturing facility," says Paul Tusini, the Sales and Marketing Manager at Voilex. "We'll be running an entire facility here, from soup to nuts, and so far we've hired just six people."

CORRECTION: Last week a picture was featured in the Town Crier in which crews were described as wearing "radiation suits" as they worked to clean up the property owned by Olin Corporation. The yellow suits should have been referred to as "Splash Protection Clothing, complete with air-purifying respirators." Indeed, since there is absolutely no radiation whatsoever at the location, the word was merely used incorrectly as a description of the suit.

It's YOUR Money
by Joyce Brisbois

BORROWING-SMART AND NOT SO SMART

Borrowing can be a smart way to leverage investments—or a real drain on your personal money management. It pays to know the difference between various kinds of debt.

Mortgages are not bad in themselves. If you have a normal mortgage at a reasonable rate of interest—and if it's not reasonable, you may want to refinance!—don't rush to pay it off. Better to put more into retirement savings or other investments. By retirement, though, when income may drop, you may want that mortgage paid off.

Home-equity loans are smart for home improvements or major home repairs, but this is not borrowing to take lightly. You're risking the roof over your head.

Student loans are not expensive and may be deductible. Don't rush to pay them off; if needed, stretch them out to fund your 401(k).

Bad debts: credit card debt, because it costs too much; a loan against your 401(k) because it's chancy and expensive.

You'll get good money advice from the tax-and-finance people at

...From the Editor's Desk

A glimpse of changes to come

August is coming to a close, and autumn is right around the corner. Weatherwise, the two have been one and the same this year, for we are wrapping up what has got to be the coolest summer in recent memory. Where were the heat waves? Where were those nights that are so unbearably hot at two in the morning that we couldn't sleep?

Here I am, writing my first editorial ever, and already I've digressed. What I'm really here to tell you today is that in this coming fall season, it will not just be the colors of the leaves that change. There will be changes here at The Town Crier, as well.

In fact, some of those changes have taken shape already. For starters, we have a new Production Manager, who for three weeks now has worked overtime in getting our ads just right. Brian Crowley joined the Town Crier earlier this month, and right out of the gate the poor guy was hit with the gargantuan task of assembling school bus schedules for both Wilmington and Tewksbury. The good news is, he met the challenge like a champ.

Brian is a 1995 graduate of Wilmington High School. Last year, he earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Electronic Imaging from the University of Massachusetts at Dartmouth. Prior to arriving here at our newspaper office on Lowell Street, Brian interned at Cramer Productions in Norwood.

When asked to recollect his memory of those slavish interning days, Brian answers, "Those were long drives to work."

Brian replaced Chrissy Packard, who bid farewell to those of us here at the Town Crier, so that she may further pursue her education by taking a web design course at Clark University. Keep your eyes open for Chrissy. She's a gifted graphic artist, and in time we will be seeing her computer designs everywhere.

And here's the latest change. On August 18 I was promoted to the position of editor here at the Wilmington and Tewksbury Town Crier.

A Sanford, Maine native and Fitchburg State College graduate, I joined the Woburn Daily Times, Incorporated in May of 1999, writing feature stories once a week for The Stoneham Independent. In December of last year I came aboard The Town Crier as its full-time reporter.

Frank Amato, who had been the paper's editor since 1996, has accepted the position of Director of Marketing and Promotions within the company.

Many of the changes that can be expected this fall with be aesthetic ones.

For starters, we will soon be changing the process by which we assemble the paper and prepare it for publication. The days of cutting-and-pasting stories and ads to pages at long last will soon give way to the age of technology. For quite some time now, the Town Crier has used a computer only to produce its front pages. At one point this fall, the entire paper will be computerized. A whole wall with slanted pasting tables jutting downward from them will be replaced by pint-sized iMacs on top of our desks.

Soon, we'll even be printing on narrower paper, which will reinvent the Town Crier's appearance so that it is in step with the new look that was adopted this year by such publications as The Boston Globe.

There's more. Also this fall, Sports Editor Jamie Pote and I will work together to create an Entertainment page that will be printed once a month.

It's an exciting time here at The Town Crier, and as one of my first gestures as editor I would like to invite you, our readers, to be a part of the transformation.

Do you have a story to tell, whether it's an amusing anecdote or a life-affirming tale? Do you know someone who is gifted, whose talents would make for an interesting character piece? Has someone you know recently accomplished something quietly admirable or truly amazing?

Wilmington and Tewksbury are your towns. In every little corner of them there are feature stories to be told, and we at The Town Crier would enjoy helping you tell them.

Of course, time and space constraints are daily factors in the newspaper business. Given that, here's what we can promise: We will always listen with enthusiasm to your ideas, and we will always do our best to determine if or when something can become of them.

We check the Internet daily, so comments and suggestions can be sent via email to: towncrier1@aol.com. If you prefer the old fashioned way, letters to the editor can be sent through the post office to 104 Lowell Street, right here in Wilmington.

And if you'd like to call? We're open between the hours of nine and five, and the number is 658-2346.

Ask for Shawn.

Town Clerk Carey outlines absentee voting rules for the primaries

TWEEKSBURY - Tewksbury Town Clerk, Elizabeth Carey, has prepared the following concerning absentee voting. You may vote absentee if you are a registered voter and you will be unable to vote at the polls because: You will be out of town during the hours the polls are open, because you have physical disability, or because of religious beliefs.

You, or a family member, must apply in writing, for an absentee ballot from the office of the Town Clerk no later than noon on Monday, September 18, 2000. Applications may be mailed or hand delivered. You may request the official absentee ballot application form or you may use any form of written communication; a letter or postcard. Include your name, your address where you are listed as a registered voter, the precise address to which you want the ballot sent, and your signature. If you are registered as an unenrolled voter (formerly called Independent), you must designate which party ballot you are requesting: Democratic ballot, Republican ballot or Libertarian ballot.

Requesting to vote by mail: A ballot will be sent to any address that you specify. Be sure to apply early because the ballot must be sent by mail and returned, by mail or hand delivered to the Town Clerk's office before 7 p.m. on Election Day.

Requesting to vote in person: The final day to request to vote in person is before noon on Monday, September 18, 2000. You may fill out the absentee ballot application and vote at the Town Hall during the same visit. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Tuesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Please phone the Town Clerk's office at 640-4355 if we can be of further assistance.

Getting the kids off to school is quite a struggle, but it's well worth the effort. Six hours of peace and quite...

... unless, of course, YOU are a teacher!

Letters to the editor

"Have you talked to your kid today?"

Dear Editor:

As children return to school for another year, this is a good time for all of us - as members of the community, parents, teachers, community groups, businesses and the alcohol beverage industry - to refocus our efforts to prevent underage drinking. The men and women of D.J. Reardon Co., Inc. many of whom are parents and Anheuser-Busch want to do all that we can to stop underage drinking before it starts in our community.

We believe parental involvement is the key to continuing the tremendous progress that has been made in the fight against underage drinking. In fact, in the most recent edition of the Roper Youth Report among six things that might effect their decisions about drinking, 70 percent of American youth (ages 13-17) identified their parents as a leading influence. That finding is consistent throughout the history of the Youth Report.

Several years ago parents were asked, "Have you hugged your kid today?" Now, when we talk about what parents can do to help their children avoid illegal and risky behavior, a more appropriate question may be "Have you talked to your kid today?"

To help parents listen to their kids and have a respectful, open and honest discussion with their children about illegal underage drinking, we are pleased to offer, free of charge, to the people of the Greater Lowell area "Family Talk About drinking," a program developed by an advisory panel of experts in family counseling, child psychology and alcohol treatment. "Family Talk" not only encourages parents to talk to their kids, but it also urges parents to set a good example and to show interest in their children's lives.

More than three million parents and educators nationwide have received "Family Talk." In a national survey of those who have received "Family Talk," 94 percent said they would recommend the materials to other parents. Free "Family Talk" materials may be obtained by calling (978) 667-6841 or 1-800-359-TALK.

Let's work together to help our school children make smart choices from resisting negative peer pressure, to respecting the law, to avoiding underage drinking. Let's listen to our children. Let's talk to them. Together, we can all make a difference here in the Greater Lowell area.

Sincerely
Anne McGregor

Thank you all so very much

Dear friends and neighbors:

Since it has been impossible for me to call or write all my friends and neighbors who sent flowers, cards, get well wishes, phone messages, expressions of love, etc., I chose this way to express how I feel.

Thank you all so very much, I was overwhelmed with all your caring and love.

My recovery has been slow and I have a long way to go yet. With God's help and all your wonderful support, I hope to get through this. My love to all of you.

Half Price for "Membership Month" at WCTV

WILMINGTON - September is Membership Month at Wilmington Community Television. Through the medium of television and electronic communication, WCTV offers the opportunity for Wilmington residents to share knowledge and ideas, stay informed about local events and activities, and creatively communicate. WCTV provides residents with the opportunity to build community through communication.

WCTV, a non-profit organization, offers persons who live and work in Wilmington an opportunity to learn to use this valuable communication resource in their community. During this month, new memberships are half price. Individual memberships are $5 - half the regular $10 rate and new memberships for families are offered for only $10. New organizational members can sign up for only $15 for their first year. Most access stations in surrounding communities collect membership fees as much as three times higher than Wilmington. Membership entitles you to attend television training classes, use television and computer resources, participate in productions or develop your own programming, submit club and organizational information to the community bulletin board, and attend special events. This year's theme centers around the Baldwin Apple of Wilmington. WCTV recently adopted the apple symbol as part of its official logo. A familiar town site, the Baldwin Monument, erected in 1895 by the Rumford Historical Society, features the likeness of a Baldwin Apple. Subsequently, a variety of apple related surprises will be offered during the week.

On Monday, September 25, WCTV officially kicks off its Annual Membership Week with Organizational Night. WCTV members are invited to join in celebrating 11 successful years of community television. Tuesday, September 26 is deemed "Sports Night," and will feature hosts of several local sports programs.

On Wednesday, September 27, "Youth Programming" features a night of television programs produced by and for kids. On Thursday, September 28, WCTV's "Open House" will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. welcoming current and new members to tour the facility, meet the staff and sign up for fall classes.

Finally, Friday, September 29, is a night of live, viewer interactive programming concluding with "The Insomniacs," a live, wacky hour of laughs.

October 3 Town Meeting

Fire Station, land swap prompt two articles

By CHARLOTTE COOPER
TEWKSBURY - Several interesting articles promise to spark conversations at the Special Town Meeting on October 3rd.

One article will address the need to raise $160,000 in additional funds for the construction of the South Street Fire Station. A second article will determine whether or not a land-swap between a local private developer and the Tewksbury Hospital will be approved.

"We had an original project estimate of $1.373 million [to construct the fire station]," said David Cressman, Town Manager. "Right now we're coming a little closer to $1.536 million. The difference being about $163,000."

Mr. Cressman said that the estimate fell short of the actual bids for the job. He cites several reasons for this. One reason is the lack of competition for bidders.

"One of the problems is that we are in a period of time where most contractors have enough work," said Mr. Cressman. He also said that some contractors are not interested in government work contracts. "There's not much competition right now and the prices climb."

"Another problem is with sub-contractors," said Mr. Cressman. He said that it has been difficult to solicit reasonable bids for the areas of miscellaneous metal work and masonry.

"In the area of miscellaneous metals, we only had two bidders," he said. He said that at least three bidders had been hoped for, but that didn't happen. The two sub-contractors bid 100% more than what was originally estimated. He said that the town went with their original estimate of $30,000 and broke even on that issue.

In the area of masonry, Mr. Cressman said that a contractor from Billerica was eventually secured. The contractor would complete the job for a reasonable amount. It still took time to contract someone and the process was not without complications.

"We still went over the original estimate," said Mr. Cressman. He said that estimates are really only ball-park figures and no one is bound by them.

"This is not a totally unusual problem," he said. He indicated that it's happening in Lowell, Littleton, and other surrounding towns.

Since the actual cost of the project exceeds the estimate, the new figure must be presented to the voters and be voted on as an article at Town Meeting.

An article requesting a land swap between a private contractor and the state may also come before the Special Town Meeting.

The article, which is lacking some details and proposes to be finished by Wednesday, August 30th, is basically seeking approval to swap a piece of land along East Street for a piece of land owned by Tewksbury State Hospital.

John Sullivan currently owns the East Street property. The property has come before the Planning Board for use as a multi-family dwelling site with high-rise buildings. The plans for development have met with opposition from the neighbors, who feel such plans are unsuitable for that site.

"The suggestion was made by a resident that we swap the land the governor designated that we use for middle income housing," said Ray Sanzone, the Director of Tewksbury State Hospital. The state land would be along Livingston Street where the boarded-up old buildings are located.

Although it is not unusual for an individual to petition the state for land or other things, most legislators feel that the town should be involved. Mr. Cressman said that the article would be to authorize the town to petition the state and allow the swap to take place. He said that he and the selectmen support the idea.

Discussion of the articles is scheduled for Thursday, September 14, at 7 p.m. in the Town Hall.

The Special Town Meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, October 3, at 7 p.m. at the Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Grants process "streamlined" for Wilmington Council for the Arts

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Council for the Arts has received word from the Massachusetts Cultural Council that the council has qualified to participate in streamlining in fiscal year 2001. "Streamlining is a process that further concentrates decision making at the local, rather than state, level. Councils with strong local procedures, a history of member training, and a clean approval record" can qualify. In practical terms, this means that the granting process will be much quicker and projects and reimbursements can begin in January. The Wilmington Arts Council is very proud of their new "streamlined" status and their long record of service.

For those interested in applying for a grant from the Massachusetts Cultural Council, please note that the deadline for submittal is Monday, October 16, 2000. Applications are not yet available, but will be placed at the Town Hall and the library in plenty of time. They will also be available on line at www.massculturalcouncil.org.

The Wilmington Council for the Arts will be launching their 2000-2001 season this September with a musical program. The council is pleased to present the North Shore Wind Quintet at the Arts Center on Friday evening, September 15, 2000, at 7:30 p.m. The instruments played by this local group include the flute, bassoon, oboe, clarinet, French horn and the piano. The program includes pieces by Mozart and Rimsky-Korsakov. The concert is free and open to the public.

Also in September, the Council will present a watercolor demonstration by noted artist Fritz Kubitz. The demo will take place Wednesday, September 27 at 7:30 p.m. Again, the demo is free and everyone is welcomed. Drop by and take advantage of these great programs. The Arts Center belongs to Wilmington to be used and enjoyed.

Fall is back to school time and the Wilmington Arts Center will be busy with old and new classes. Two watercolor teachers will be starting their classes in October. Oil painting will be starting soon. Two new classes will be offered - drawing and photography. Watch for more information in the Town Crier or call Jane Crane at 658-9798.

Natalie Trio weds Mathew Raia

WILMINGTON - Natalie Trio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trio of Middlesex Avenue, Wilmington, became the bride of Mathew Raia, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Raia of Philomena Road, Revere on Saturday, October 16, 1999.

The Rev. P. Derrick performed the ceremony from the pulpit of United Church of Christ, Congregational in Burlington.

The bride was radiant in her "Bridal Original" gown featuring a long, flowing train, trimmed with beads, sequins and scalloped edges laced with pearls. She carried a bouquet of Hanna pink and cream colored roses surrounded by Hawaiian lilies and Italian greens.

Melissa Pino of Somerville, served her cousin as maid of honor while the bridesmaids included Laurene Trio of Tewksbury, sister-in-law of the bride; Amy Zaccagnini of, Tewksbury, close friend of the bride; Marianne Thompson and Jennifer Geraneo, both of Wilmington, close friends of the bride; Tammy Carriere of Tyngsboro and Dionne Walsh of Tewksbury, close friends of the bride and groom.

The bride's attendants were gown by Alfred Angelo in long navy blue floor length dresses featuring sheer tops. They carried bouquets of Hannah pink and cream colored roses with matching ribbon throughout the bouquets.

Stephanie Pino served as junior bridesmaid.

Chris Carriere of Tyngsboro, best friend of the groom served as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Pat Trio of Tewksbury, brother of the bride; Frank Raia of Revere and Anthony Raia of So.

Boston, brothers of the groom; Lenny Zaccagnini of Tewksbury, Joe Silva of Somerville and Santo Quartarone of Salem, close friends of the bride and groom.

Junior ushers were Robert and Patrick Raia.

The new Mrs. Raia is a 1993 graduate of Wilmington High School and earned a degree in Early Childhood Education from Middlesex College in 1996.

Her husband graduated from Northeast Regional Vocational Tech in 1989.

Following a seven day honeymoon Carnival Cruise to the Western Caribbean the couple is now living in Dracut.

"Free & Low Cost Prescription Drugs" booklet available

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Is your medication too expensive for your budget? If so, information in a new booklet might help.

The Cost Containment Research Institute in Washington, DC has just published a 32 page booklet, "Free & Low Cost Prescription Drugs." The revised fourth edition booklet gives information on how and where to get free and low cost prescription drugs.

"Many major drug companies provide free or low cost medication, but rarely, if ever publicize the program," says Gary Nave,

Director of the Institute. "We've published an A to Z listing of all the drugs that are available to certain qualified groups for free or at very low cost directly from the manufacturer."

Consumers can receive a copy by sending $5 to cover the cost of printing, postage and handling to: Institute Fulfillment Center, Booklet #: PD-370, P.O. Box 210, Dallas, PA 18612-0210. Consumers can also get more information from the Institute's Internet web site: www.institutedc.org.

Sewer Phases 1-5 have been completed

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

TEWKSBURY - At a gathering at the Trahan School on Wednesday, August 9th, the completion of the first five phases of town sewer was discussed as well as the future of the remaining phases necessary for the entire town to be on sewer.

"The work started in June of 1996," said Town Manager David Cressman. "We did a total of 16 miles of sewer and 2.7 miles of new water mains." He said that the total cost of the project was $9.9 million. "With that $9.9 million, in addition to the sewer and water main installation, we installed three new pumping stations and a new pedestrian bridge at South Street."

"We were able to do those extra things due to good project management," said Mr. Cressman. "Our cost control methods gave us an extra 25% more than we originally planned." He said that to construct the pedestrian bridge, they had to run the water line across the old railroad bridge and put the pedestrian bridge over it. The reasoning behind the pedestrian bridge construction is to assure the South Street citizens that they can leave their area the next time a major flood event occurs.

"Forty percent of the town now has access to town sewer," said Mr. Cressman. He said that the sewer provides service to about 1000 homes. With the exception of two streets, all of Phases 1-5 have been completed.

"The first reason for meeting, is to say that with the link up of the Trahan School to town sewer, that completes the first five phases of the sewer plan," said Mr. Cressman. "The second reason for the meeting is to thank the state for assisting us in funding." He said that the state's loan contribution of $4.6 million at 0% interest fueled the sewer plan to the completion of Phase 5.

"The third reason for the meeting is that we are laying the final pipes to sewer the Trahan School," said Mr. Cressman. He said that there have been concerns regarding the septic system at the school for some time. "It is the last public school in town to receive sewer service."

Mr. Cressman said that the final reason for the meeting is to review what has happened and decide where the town would like to go from here. He said that the issue is before the Sewer Committee now and they will need input on what the next step should be and to discuss financing.

"The current loan is for 20 years. The good news is, the interest on the $5 million is just 5%. On the state loan, we pay just the principle," said Mr. Cressman. "That wasn't originally part of the final plan. It was achieved after the construction began."

He said that the past four years have been hallmarks in sewer planning.

"When we first started installing the sewer pipeline along Andover Street, we planned it so that it would be installed prior to paving," Mr. Cressman said. He said that when they worked on Shawsheen Street, they coordinated it with other digging projects, such as replacing the pipes in the culvert and the culvert itself.

"We were able to limit the disruption of traffic on Main Street," Mr. Cressman said. He said that by limiting the work area to the side of the street and drilling with a new technology, traffic problems and tie-ups were practically non-existent.

"At the intersection of South Main Streets, we employed a new technique called directional drilling," said Mr. Cressman. He said that it is a method where a hole is drilled on both ends of section that in which a new pipe will be laid, and a machine is lowered in one of the holes. The machine then digs a line underground so that the pipe can be placed without stripping the top layer of the road.

"We didn't have to dig at the surface, limiting the disruption of traffic flow," he said.

Mr. Cressman said that there were four major contractors and one minor contractor for the duration of the project. A section of Shawsheen Street even had the old two-inch water pipe removed and replaced with a much more efficient eight inch pipe.

"That was another way to save digging up the street multiple times," Mr. Cressman said. "We've been doing this for four years, and now it's coming to a close. Our thanks go to the police department for their help in making this project run smoothly."

More than meets the eye as Wilmington Memorial Library celebrates

National library card signup month

WILMINGTON - The Friends of the Library are joining the library in celebrating National Library Card Month. Anyone who signs up for a library card during the month of September will be eligible to win a $25 gift certificate to Barnes and Noble donated by the Friends. You can, with your library card, borrow bestsellers on the New York Times Best Seller List; videos to watch on Friday night; books on tape for your commute to work; CDs for your listening enjoyment, and magazines covering current news and popular culture.

Your library card also gives you home access on the Internet to databases subscribed to by the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium (MVLC) and the Northeast Massachusetts Regional Library System (NMRLS).

Your Wilmington library card can be used in any library in the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium network, which includes the neighboring towns of Andover, Burlington, Billerica, Tewksbury and North Reading. Any resident of Wilmington with proof of residency and a picture ID may apply for a library card free of charge. Children under age 14 are required to have a parent or legal guardian present when applying for a library card. Signature of parent or legal guardian is required on the application of children under age 14. Children age 14 and over must present acceptable identification or be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian with acceptable identification to obtain a library card.

Stop by the library and sign up for a card this month. The library hours are Monday through Thursday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The library will be open Saturdays beginning September 9.

A new school year begins

The staff of Wilmington Memorial Library wishes all students who returned to school this week the best of luck in the new school year. The library has many great resources including a very helpful staff ready to assist students in locating books and information related to homework assignments. Please remember to always take your library card and assignment with you when you go to the library for homework help.

Here are some helpful books for parents and students: The Secrets of Getting Better Grades: Study Smarter, Not Harder by Brian Marshall and Wendy Ford. Pampered Chef contributing to Second Harvest

WILMINGTON - Each year 31,000,000 Americans will worry each day about where they will get their next meal. Twelve million of them are children.

But once again, the Pampered Chef is doing something about it.

The Pampered Chef, a multi million dollar direct selling company that markets kitchen products through in-home cooking demonstrations, will launch its annual Round-up from the Heart corporate giving campaign September 1.

This unique campaign is a team effort among the Pampered Chef's customers, independent contractors, corporate employees and America's Second Harvest, the largest domestic hunger relief charity in the U.S. Last year's $1,000,000 donation brought the Round-up campaign's nine year total to just over $4 million, which is more than any other promotional sponsor in America's Second Harvest history.

The Pampered Chef's 60,000 independent contractors across the country promote the Round-up from the Heart campaign during the kitchen shows they conduct between September 1 and February 28. Customers contribute to the campaign by rounding up their purchase totals to the nearest dollar or more. These funds are then sent to America's Second Harvest food banks in the region where the donations originate, making this a national program with a local impact.

The customers can also purchase a special collector's cookie mold, and the Pampered Chef will donate $1 for each mold that is purchased. In addition, the administrative costs of the program, which include salaries and supplies are contributed by the company.

"We are committed to helping set a place at the table for everyone," says Pampered Chef Founder and President, Doris Christopher. "Our partnership with America's Second Harvest has allowed us to address the growing hunger crisis in America."

Help is available to deal with asthma or allergies

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Do you have a child starting school or day care this fall? "If your child has asthma or severe allergies, good communication with the school and a healthy environment are essential," says Sharon Schumack, Health Education Coordinator for the New England Chapter of the Asthma & Allergy Foundation of America (AAFA).

Keeping your child healthy at school and child care is easier with the help of free materials from AAFA. You can use AAFA's "Asthma-Friendly Child Care" checklist to learn about what child care centers or family day care providers should do to create a safe and healthy environment for your child with asthma. Many of the suggestions for avoiding or controlling allergens and irritants also apply to school classrooms and your own home.

The "Asthma Action Card" and the "Food Allergy Emergency

Health Care Plan" are forms to familiarize school personnel with a child's triggers, medications, and emergency directions. They are recommended by the National Institutes of Health as a way to document a child's asthma management plan.

"Children with severe food allergies may have life threatening reactions, so teachers and other parents may need to be educated about how to help prevent or handle emergencies."

For a free "Asthma Action Card," "Food Allergy Emergency Plan" or "Asthma-Friendly Child Care" checklist, call the Asthma & Allergy Foundation of America/New England Chapter toll free at 1-877-2-ASTHMA. You can also ask for information about educational support programs in your area for parents of children with asthma and allergies.

100 New Jobs

Tusini is working alongside General Manager Dean Gammell and Operations Manager Paul Laidley to find a way to marry the expertise of the people that they hire to Volex's brand name. Once such a marriage is in place, Volex intends to penetrate the telecommunications market.

"That market is untapped territory for Volex," says Tusini.

Tusini spoke with confidence when he described the projected success that Volex believes the Centre of Excellence will attain once the facility opens in a few weeks.

"We expect to experience extreme rapid growth," enthuses Tusini, who assures that he is choosing his words carefully. "In fact, it appears that we may open doors with more success than was originally anticipated when projecting results for the first six months of this new facility."

Such a boom should be a boon for Wilmington workers.

the curriculum that we're doing in our schools."

Indeed, the first day of classes at the new Middle School and the high numbers of Extended Day enrollments mark the dawn of a new era in the Wilmington school system.

At last week's School Committee meeting, Superintendent O'Donnell put it best.

"We are ready for our teachers," she began. "We are ready for our students. We are ready for a successful school year."

School System Review: Commendable showings in Special Education, Food Services

As one part of its School and School District Accountability System, the Department of Education oversees local compliance with education requirements through the Coordinated Program Review System. For the 1999-2000 school year, the Department incorporated requirements of the Education Reform act of 1993 for the first time, in addition to selected requirements in Special Education, certain federal civil rights requirements under Title VI and Title IX, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, and the Food Services Program. During the last week of February 2000, the Department of Education conducted this comprehensive Coordinated Program Review of the Wilmington Public Schools. This rigorous process involved months of self-assessment activities prior to the arrival of the Department's visiting team. The Review Team then conducted interview with administrators, teachers, and support staff, School Committee, parents and School Council representatives. Hundreds of student record were examined and observations were conducted of classrooms and facilities.

The Review Team's findings were reported to the school district in June 2000. We are pleased to announce that the Wilmington Public Schools received commendable ratings in the areas of Special Education and Food Services with only one are cited for corrective action, in service training in civil rights requirements. Furthermore, the Review Team commended the following program area that was brought to the attention of the Department and that the Team believes has a significant and positive impact on the delivery of educational services for students enrolled in the Wilmington Public Schools.

The Department's Team commends the district for its efforts to provide challenging education programs within the regular education classrooms to all students, including students with special education needs. The district has made extensive efforts to integrate special education services into the regular education classroom and to integrate the regular education curriculum into special education programs. It is clear that in Wilmington, regular education personnel at all levels feel responsible for educating all students. The district supports collaboration, joint planning and classroom observation by receiving the supports they need to succeed in the regular education classrooms. The district has created this effective inclusion by developing task forces to address how students can best access the general curriculum at different grade levels; including special education staff on district curriculum, department committees; supplying professional development opportunities supporting its inclusion efforts to all staff; and providing consultants to support classroom efforts.

The staff of the Wilmington Public Schools extends its sincere thanks to the members of the Department of Education Review Team for conducting a thorough and vigorous review. The overall positive results of this evaluation are the product of the efforts of many staff members who are to be commended for their ongoing commitment to quality education in Wilmington.

Jerry's Kids

Syndrome, or ALS, is an equally familiar form of the disease. We know it as Lou Gehrig's disease.

Ultimately, Muscular Dystrophy is a degenerating disease, inflicting alarming physical disability at a rate of deterioration that depends completely on the form of the disease that its victims are struggling with. Some neuromuscular diseases have an accelerated rate in which the muscles break down. Some move at a slower pace.

If, by chance, you do not find yourself tuning in to Jerry Lewis's annual televised staple, please know that there is still a place to which you can send your donations to help combat Muscular Dystrophy.

The address? The Northeastern Massachusetts Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association at 20 Conant Street in Danvers. The Zip Code is 01923. Please make your check payable to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. All proceeds will remain local in that they will be dispersed among surrounding support groups, clinics, summer camps and funds for such equipment as wheelchairs and braces.

According to Fran Gendrano, who is the Program Coordinator of the Northeastern Massachusetts Chapter of the MDA, the Jerry Lewis Telethon is the largest and most successful fund-raiser that the association holds all year.

Says Gendrano, "This telethon is a great way to raise awareness and money for Muscular Dystrophy. It's also a great opportunity for the MDA to acknowledge and give credit to those who have helped make a difference. It's the perfect time to thank the people who should be thanked."

Gendrano states that approximately 2,000 families in Massachusetts have a loved one who fights the daily battles that Muscular Dystrophy wages on their bodies. Of those 2,000 families, more than 700 of them are served by the MDA chapter in Danvers, which attends to the needs of those residing in the North Shore region.

Above and beyond stinky hair and clothes

TEWKSBURY - Secondhand Smoke, what does it mean to you? If you are a smoker, it simply is the smoke floating from the end of your cigarette and nothing more. If you are a non-smoker you may think that the smoke from someone else's cigarette or cigar has nothing to do with you. So why should you care if someone else is smoking in the same room as you? The reasons, believe it or not, are numerous!

After you go out to eat or to the bar, do you ever get that not so fresh feeling? I mean the way you smell. Do you notice how your clothes and hair smell like smoke? It is obvious that the smoke from the restaurant or bar is sticking to you and your clothes. Well, that doesn't seem too bad, just to smell like smoke once and a while when you go out.

Let's take a closer look at what you should be concerned about. Your clothes do not breathe; they do not actively pull air into them; however, look at how much smoke has gotten into them. Now think about your lungs. They do breathe, actively pulling air into and out of them. Think about how much smoke is getting into your lungs. Quite a bit more than the amount that has gotten into your clothes. This smoke that your lungs are taking in is quite dangerous (for you smokers as well as you non-smokers).

Above and beyond stinky hair and clothes, secondhand smoke can cause watery eyes, scratchy throats, coughing, and induce asthma attacks in asthmatics. Most people do not realize that these are warning signs our bodies are giving us to tell us that something bad is happening to our body. These signs may seem insignificant to you but remember they are happening because your body is fighting off the deadly poisons that are entering your body. Long term effects of exposure to secondhand smoke include numerous types of cancers, heart disease, and lower respiratory tract infections such as pneumonia and bronchitis.

Tewksbury school moving to align with state curriculum

by Christine L. McGrath
Superintendent of Schools

TEWKSBURY - The 2000-2001 System Wide Goals were developed by the Tewksbury School Committee and the Administrative Council during the Eighth Annual Joint Retreat held on June 13, 2000. These goals were formally approved by the Tewksbury School Committee at its meeting on Wednesday, July 26, 2000. These initiatives represent the efforts of the members of the school district toward meeting the fourth year goals of our second five year strategic plan. The plan continues to be organized around five areas. Basic Skills, technology, interpersonal development, physical plant and resources.

Our goals in the area of basic skills include the continued effort to fully align our curriculum with the State Curriculum Frameworks and to closely monitor the progress of our students who are enrolled in our many academic remediation programs. In addition, we will implement a new Guided Reading Program at the First Grade level and introduce Differentiated Instruction for those students who have been identified as Gifted and Talented.

We continue to expand our efforts in the area of technology. We have increased the number of computers in accordance with the Guidelines from the Massachusetts Department of Education. We will establish systems and procedures to monitor the efficient integration of technology in our classrooms. We will also increase our use of technology to correlate student test scores across various assessments and to track pertinent data on our students.

Student and school safety are the focal points of our work in the area of Interpersonal development. We have established the District Security Team and will now set out to formalize their roles and responsibilities. We will develop a job placement program for high school students. We will also report on the progress of students in the newly established Learning Laboratory at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

The most challenging goals for the 2000-2001 school year lie in the area of the physical plant. We will work with the Wynn Middle School Building Committee to plan for the renovation of the John W. Wynn Middle School and the development of a housing plan for the seventh and eighth grade students who will be displaced during the renovation project.

Finally in the area of resources we will provide a training program for parents and community members on the appropriate use of technology in the school and the home. We will provide a comprehensive professional development program to assist our faculty and administration in meeting the recertification requirements and we will work on the establishment of a Tewksbury Public School Teacher Hall of Fame and an Alumni Association for Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Copies of the System Wide Goals can be obtained by contacting the Office of the Superintendent of Schools at 139 Pleasant Street (640-7801). We look forward to meeting the many challenges and achieving the system wide goals for the 2000-2001 school year.

PASSING THOUGHTS

For many, the passing of a funeral procession is a sobering experience. Even though we may not be acquainted with the person leading the mass of friends and relatives, we know that we will someday share his or her fate. This realization can give rise to a flood of ideas and questions. Whether this leaves us changed for a moment, a lifetime, or not at all is a much harder question to answer. In any case, the reflection should be welcomed. As the British writer

Gerald Brennan once wrote, "When we attend the funerals of our friends we grieve for them, but when we go to those of other people it is chiefly our own deaths that we mourn for."

When a death occurs, family members are rarely prepared to handle the decisions one must make to arrange funeral services. Important details must be coordinated, and there is often too little time for investigation and reflection. We, the staff of FARMER & DEE FUNERAL HOME, are here to help guide you through this situation. For assistance with preneed or current need funeral arrangements, call us at 16 Lee Street (851-7411). All faiths are welcome.

As summer draws to a close...

Thanks! from Tewksbury Library

TEWKSBURY - A fun filled summer of activities for children has concluded at the Tewksbury Public Library. A picnic for children who participated in the summer reading program was held last week, and awards and prizes were distributed. Participants who missed the picnic may pick up their certificates of achievement at the desk in the Children's Room. Mike the Hatman entertained the picnic crowd, and the children were treated to a veritable feast of donated goodies from local restaurants. Space Day organizers also donated hotdogs and all the trimmings for the picnic.

In addition to the summer reading program, children have enjoyed story hours, craft programs and special performances. With so much rainy weather this summer, parents and children alike have made the most of the public library's resources and services.

Thanks to the many Tewksbury businesses that have supported the library's summer programs. They include:

Andover Bank
Batter Up
Bruegger's Bagels
Burger King
Capelli's Restaurant
Carlson Real Estate
Cracker Barrel Restaurant
CVS (Oakdale Mall)
DeMoulas/MarketBasket
Dominoes Pizza
Elliott's Famous Hotdogs

Meadowlands Ice Cream
Medford Bank
Mura ASTA Pharmaceuticals
Papa Gino's Pizza (Oakdale Mall)
Papa Gino's Pizza (Heartland Mall)

San Diego Yogurt Shoppe
Subway Sandwich Shop
Superstar Video
Tune Town
WalMart

We would also like to express our deep appreciation to the Friends of the Library, who subsidized the weekly craft programs, and the Tewksbury Cultural Council, which funded special entertainers throughout the summer. Kudos to Ari Ford and Stacey Holland who volunteered in the craft room on a weekly basis.

The library has announced the departure of Children's Librarian Cynthia Fordham, who has accepted a position in the Children's Department at the Woburn Public Library. We will miss Cynthia, her fish, and Pokey the Russian Tortoise, and wish her luck in her new position.

St. Dorothy's Parish to meet Monday evening to discuss new pastor

WILMINGTON - The Merrimack Region of the Archdiocese of Boston, will conduct a parish consultation meeting for parishioners of St. Dorothy's Parish on Monday, September 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Church Hall.

The purpose of the meeting is to allow representatives of the Archdiocese to complete an accurate picture of the leadership needs of the parish. The meeting will also give parishioners a chance to describe the qualities sought in a new pastor.

Joining Bishop Allue will be the very Reverend Richard J. Craig, vicar of the Chelmsford Vicariate of the Merrimack Region and the Reverend Richard W. Fitzgerald, director of clergy personnel for the Archdiocese.

All parishioners are welcome and encouraged to attend.

The answer is "yes"

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury Town Clerk Elizabeth Carey mentioned that many inquiries have been directed to the Town Clerk's office regarding whether an unenrolled voter can vote in the September State Primary. The answer is yes!

If you are a registered voter and you are not enrolled in any political party you may vote in the upcoming State Primary. Voters who are registered as unenrolled may declare at the September Primary Election whether they want a Democratic Party ballot, a Republican Party ballot, or a Libertarian Party ballot. These are the three official political parties in Massachusetts.

Chapter 475, Acts of 1993 (MGL:CH.53:37) provides, for the State Primary Election only, that if you are an unenrolled voter prior to the selection of a party ballot at the State Primary election only, you shall continue to be an unenrolled voter. After voting, there is no need for you to fill out a change of party enrollment card. This will be done for you, automatically at the Town Clerk's office. The above rule does not apply to a Presidential Primary.

Maureen Ervin named treasurer of Reading Co-operative Bank

WILMINGTON - Maureen Ervin, CPA, has been elected treasurer of Reading Co-operative Bank in Wilmington and Reading. For the past two years, Ervin has worked as the bank's controller where her position encompassed a wide range of financial responsibilities.

These include: implementing financial policies, procedures, and controls; managing the bank's investment portfolio; and responding to requests from internal and external auditing groups, government examiners and tax preparers. In addition, she created and managed Reading Co-operative Bank's Charitable Foundation which has distributed over $138,000 to civic and charitable organizations. As treasurer, Ervin will now take on increasing fiscal management responsibilities and will have greater reporting visibility as she prepares and presents month-end reports on the bank's financial status to the board of directors.

Prior to joining Reading Co-operative Bank, Ervin was a tax specialist at Wolf & Company, P.C., in Boston, a regional accounting firm which specializes in banking. In this position, she established and maintained fixed asset inventories for clients, analyzed loan portfolios to calculate loan loss reserves, evaluated the tax benefits of charitable foundations and investment holding subsidiaries, and prepared federal and multi-state income tax returns.

From 1992 to 1994, she was a staff accountant at Leydon & Gallagher in Burlington, where she prepared federal and multi-state tax returns for individuals and corporations and financial statement compilations along with performing audit preparations.

Ervin earned her B.S. in Business Administration from the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, in 1992 and went on to earn her M.S. in Taxation from Bentley College in Waltham. She is a member of the Massachusetts Society of CPAs.

New president at the helm Pop Warner tradition hopes to continue

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After completing arguably its most successful season in program history, the tides have turned again in Wilmington Pop Warner.

Now during the warm summer days of August where the football players strap on the helmets and practice blocking and the girls practice their cheers to get ready for another season, last year's president Scott Winn stepped down during the off-season giving way to Mike Clark.

During Winn's lone year as president — two years after being the little league president — he saw the Pop Warner C team become the first team in 13 years to win a playoff game. He also saw the A cheerleading team take first in the Eastern Mass. competition, first at the New England competition and fourth overall in the entire country in the competition held last December in Orlando, Florida.

Besides the A cheerleading team taking home plenty of hardware, both the B and C cheerleading squads also did very well. The C team placed fourth at the New England Regionals held at the Fleet Center, while the B team took fourth at the Eastern Mass. competition. It was the first time in Pop Warner history where three cheerleading squads from Wilmington placed at the Eastern Mass. competition.

Clark hopes the tradition continues once again with winning teams, but he also knows winning is not what the program is all about.

"I just hope the program gets better for the kids," said Clark, who has spent the last four years in the program as a coach or as board member. "We hope to give them the resources for the proper equipment and the proper teaching. This program is about the children — making it fun for them and making it the best we can for them in every way. It's not about a coach, it's not about a parent or anything else. It's about the kids, nothing else."

Since being a part of Pop Warner, Clark's responsibilities won't be a hands on thing. His primary job is to be organized, to do lots and lots of paper work (birth certificates, report card checks, forms, picture ID's, etc). However, with that is also another big responsibility.

"That right there," he said with a smirk, pointing to the new snack shed that's being built. "That's my main goal right now is to get that completed before the season ends. We want to have one spot for the snacks for the equipment and everything else."

Clark said the new shack is being built and basically donated by several local businesses including Mike Welch of Quality Additions, Wilmington Builders Supply and the McKenzie Brothers. Clark said the program can't thank those businesses enough, nor can it thank other people in the town.

"Mike Caira has been great. He has really been behind us and helped us out a lot. The parents have been a big help, all of these coaches and people volunteering have been great too."

"We also lost a very good friend to the program — Larry McGrath. He loved this program and was always there to help. He was our light man, but more importantly he was a friend to the program who we'll miss," said Clark.

Clark's wife, Karen, still continues her reign as the cheerleading co-ordinator. In other words, she's the top gun when it comes to the cheerleaders. Her head coaches of the teams include: Deb Smith (A team), Maria Paterna (B team), Jackie Welch and Jenna Ruggeiro (C team), Kerri French, Kristie Crampton and Rachel DiGregorio (D team), Amy Laffin (E White) and Alicia Forester and Jenn Gillis (E Blue).

"The girls have been working really hard," said Mike Clark. "Last year they got a big taste of success and they want a little more of it. But they are working very hard and we hope they can continue the success."

As for the Pop Warner Program itself, the numbers are once again on the rise. Last year, Winn said there were no openings at this time in the lower levels of football teams and cheerleaders. Clark said the program is at about 300 kids right now, the all-time high. He said the 7 and 8 year olds teams have about 30 players and cheerleaders on each of the two teams, while the D football team has about 34 players.

"Everything is going in the right direction," he said. "We hope it continues that way."

Among the head coaches for the football teams they include: George D'Amelio (E Blue), Mike Sorrentino (E White), Mark Brady (D team), Mick Moroney (C team) — who coached last year's C Team which went 1-1 in the playoffs — Steve O'Neil (B Team) and Brian Tildsley (A Team). Rich Delucia is once again the head football co-ordinator who deals directly with the coaches.

Letter to the Sports Editor

What message is youth soccer sending?

Sports Editor's Note: This letter was supposed to appear in last week's edition. We apologize for its delay.

Dear Jamie:
My husband got a call [recently] from the head of Wilmington Youth Soccer to say that my 13-year-old daughter had not been selected for the A travel team.

Although, there were 13 others and enough for a B team, there wasn't a coach. Wilmington has always had two teams at every level. My daughter has played travel for many years. She doesn't want to play in-town; that's her option.

I guess someone dropped the ball in the planning and preparation, or the lack of.

What message is this giving our children? Only the best play? Coaches want to coach only the best?

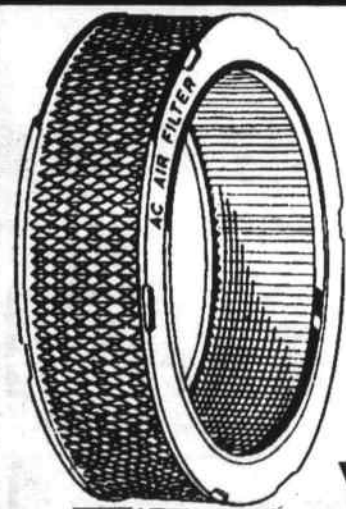

Name withheld by request

AWESOME! Wilmington's Pop Warner B Cheerleaders went through their most impressive moves on Monday evening at the Palmer Field. (Do not try this at home) (Joe Hakey photo)

Six soccer players do well in 3 vs 3 tourney

An independent U-8 boys' soccer team from Wilmington traveled to Grafton Saturday, August 12 for their first tournament experience. The event was the fifth annual Grafton 3v3 Soccer Jamboree.

The team showed much skill and enthusiasm as they faced off against teams from Bridgewater, Grafton and Mendon-Upton.

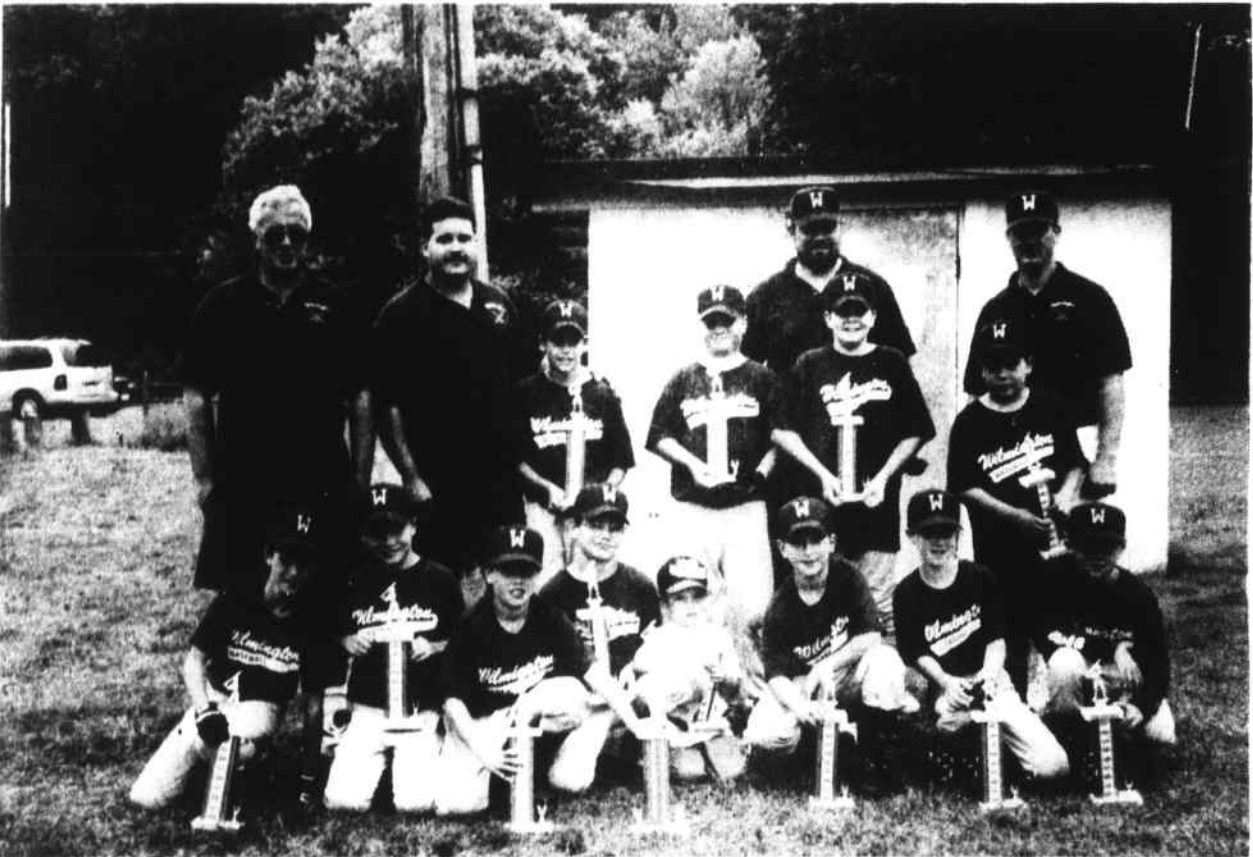

Strong enthusiastic team play was displayed by Scott Derrickson, Andrew Owens, Patrick Hunt, David Sugrue, Terrence Healey and Danny McDougal.

The Wilmington boys, coached by Tom Hunt and Ed Derrickson, displayed much talent and energy in all of their games.

Four games were guaranteed for all participating teams. The tournament was very well run and organized, with efficient scheduling and excellent officiating. The players, as well as the supporting fans all enjoyed an exciting fun filled Saturday and look forward to participating in future matches.

LEGAL NOTICE

TOWN OF TEWKSBURY

PLANNING BOARD
PUBLIC HEARING
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE ZONING BYLAW

Notice is hereby given that the Tewksbury Planning Board will hold a public hearing on Monday, September 25, 2000 at 7:00 P.M. in the Town Hall Auditorium, 1009 Main Street, Tewksbury, MA 01876 to discuss the following proposed amendments to the Tewksbury Zoning Bylaws:

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw Schedule Section 5.3, Lot Coverage and Dimensional Requirements, Paragraph 6 Maximum height

a. Dwellings (stories), and c. other buildings (stories) from:

CDD
a. Dwellings (stories) 2.5
c. Other buildings (stories) (s)

To:
a. Dwellings (stories) 3
c. Other buildings (stories) 3

And further to amend the Zoning Bylaw Schedule 5.3, paragraph 6 from:

CDD
D. Other buildings (feet) (s)
To:
D. Other buildings (feet) 35'

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw Section 4.9 Community Development District, Section 4.9.4 Site Plan Special Permit Requirements, paragraph (a) From:

(a) Minimum Area of Development: The total area of each CDD development lot shall not be less than twelve acres of contiguous property.

To read as follows:

(a) Minimum Area of Development: The total area of each CDD development lot shall not be less than twelve acres of contiguous property. The Planning Board may waive the site access requirements of 150 feet of frontage on a public way to a minimum of 40 feet of frontage on a public way providing that a suitable private access road into the site area can be constructed with the reduced frontage.

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw Section 4.9 Community Development District, Section 4.9.4(h) Site Plan Special Permit Requirements, paragraph (2) From:

(2) Acreage devoted to Adult Day Care and/or Independent Living Facilities shall not comprise more than sixty-five percent of the development's acreage devoted to such use. The remaining acreage must be reserved for Long-Term Care Facility and/or Assisted Living Facility use. If the Planning Board makes findings of fact it will benefit the residents or the Town that to increase the minimum requirements of open space and/or assist a greater proportion of elderly Tewksbury residents, the requirements of this paragraph may be modified.

To read as follows:

(2) Land devoted to Adult Day Care and/or Independent Living Facilities shall not comprise more than sixty-five percent of the development's units devoted to such use. The remaining land must be reserved for Long-Term Care Facility and/or Assisted Living Facility use. If the Planning Board makes findings of fact it will benefit the residents or the Town that to increase the minimum requirements of open space and/or assist a greater proportion of elderly Tewksbury residents, the requirements of this paragraph may be modified.

To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw Section 3 Zoning Districts by rezoning from 111 to R40 that parcel of land known as a portion of Assessor's Map 12, Lot 4, further described as a parcel of land located in the Town of Tewksbury, County of Middlesex, Commonwealth of Massachusetts and bounded and described as follows:

LOT F-1

NOTICE OF MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Kevin P. Julian and Julianne R. Julian to Commercial Bank & Trust Company dated May 4, 1988, and recorded with Middlesex County (Northern District) Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 122848, and noted on Certificate of Title No. 31443, for breach of the conditions contained in said mortgage, namely, default in the mortgage payments, and for the purposes of foreclosing the same, there shall be sold at public auction at 10:00 a.m. on September 27, 2000, on the premises located at 91-95 Main Street, Wilmington, Massachusetts, where a flag shall be erected on the day of such sale, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

A certain parcel of land situate in Wilmington in the County of Middlesex, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, bounded and described as follows:

EASTERLY by the westerly line of Main Street, forty-nine and 78/100 (49.78) feet;
SOUTHERLY by the northerly line of Grove Avenue, forty-five and 40/100 (45.40) feet;
WESTERLY by land now or formerly of SilverLake Market Inc., fifty-seven and 41/100 (57.41) feet and NORTHERLY by land now or formerly of Joseph Cote, forty-nine and 94/100 (49.94) feet.

All of said boundaries are determined by the Land Court to be located as shown on Plan 22366-A drawn by Dana F. Perkins, Civil Engineer, dated March 17, 1950, as modified and approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of a portion of which is filed with Certificate of Title 8563.

Being the same premises conveyed to Julianne R. Julian, Trustee of the Grove Street Nominee Trust by deed of Kevin P. Julian and Julianne R. Julian dated May 17, 1994, recorded with the Middlesex County (Northern District) Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 154332 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 31443.

For authorization to foreclose, see judgment of the Land Court in National Loan Investors, L.P. v. Julianne R. Julian, Trustee of Grove Street Nominee Trust dated June 27, 2000, in Case 262796.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash, cashier's or certified check drawn upon any bank or trust company doing business within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars must be presented the time and place of the sale in order to qualify as a bidder and shall be tendered by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; the minimal acceptable bid amount may be announced at the time for sale; the high bidder shall execute a written Memorandum of Foreclosure Sale upon acceptance of his/her bid; the balance of the bid price shall be paid in cash, cashier's or certified check drawn upon any bank or trust company doing business within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in or within thirty (30) days after the date of sale. The deed for the mortgaged premises shall be delivered upon receipt of the balance of the purchase price.

The mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale and to further postpone at any adjourned sale date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the adjourned sale date.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale shall default in purchasing the within described property according to the terms of this Notice of Sale and/or the terms of the Memorandum of Sale executed at the time of the foreclosure, the Mortgagee reserves the right to sell the property by Foreclosure Deed to the second highest bidder provided that the second highest bidder shall deposit with Mortgagee's attorneys, The Law Offices of Michael B. Feinman, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice of default of the previous highest bidder, and title shall be conveyed to the second highest bidder within fifteen days of said written notice.

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

The Lozzis of North Reading

"Susan and Mike Lozzi of 110 Haverhill St. were recently honored as outstanding foster parents by the Department of Social Services (DSS) and the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children (MSPCC) at the 15th annual Foster/Adoptive Parent Recognition Awards," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"The Lozzis were one of 47 outstanding foster/adoptive families honored for their dedication to helping our state's most vulnerable children."

"During their three years as foster parents, the Lozzis have opened their home to 15 children, including four sibling groups. They have devoted their personal lives to caring for at-risk children, and their selfless dedication has earned them the respect of DSS social workers, therapists, school personnel and other professionals."

"Caring for children who have been abused or neglected by their own parents is an amazing responsibility that requires a very special type of person," said DSS Commissioner Jeffrey A. Locke, who served as host for the awards ceremony. "All of our award-winning families are special and deserve our utmost appreciation. This event was our small way of saying thanks."

Labors of love do legends make

Ed O'Connell of Winchester

"How many towns in this state or even the entire country have had a team play for the Little League national championship (mid 50s) and a Nobel Prize winner (the late Tufts professor Allan Cormack), Ed O'Connell asked the Board of Selectmen this week," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"O'Connell came to the meeting this week to show off a beautiful commemorative gold coin struck by NASA featuring the Space Shuttle Challenger which was piloted by former Winchester resident Capt. Rick Hauck. The coin is to be included in a time capsule that is part of the town's 150th anniversary celebration."

"O'Connell told the board that Hauck contributed the coin himself to the time capsule, which is to be opened in 50 years. O'Connell said Hauck asked that when the capsule is opened in 2050 that the Board of Selectmen at that time should decide which deserving Winchester High School senior in the class of 2050 should be given the coin."

"O'Connell is a member of the Time Capsule Planning Committee for the 150th anniversary. The plan is to bury the time capsule somewhere in the area of Town Hall on Oct. 14, 2000 as the culmination of a number of events marking this historic year for Winchester. Also on the committee are David Leland and Stephen Parkhurst.

"O'Connell used the opportunity in front of the board to ask Winchester residents to contribute to the time capsule."

"In essence, the time capsule would contain items related to historic events and exceptional accomplishments related to Winchester during the period 1950-2000. Examples might include items related to the illustrious football career of Heisman Trophy winner Joe Bellino, the governorship of John Volpe, the way the town coped with the Blizzard of 1976, and the great flood of 1996."

"O'Connell invited residents to make any suggestions they may have for mementos worthy of inclusion in the time capsule. He said they could be passed on to any member of the subcommittee by contacting Leland (781-721-2480), Parkhurst (781-729-1734), or O'Connell (781-729-1610).

"When the time capsule is opened in 2050, it will be the 200th anniversary of Winchester's founding."

Joan Dunlevy of Tewksbury

"I can't think of anyone in the town more deserving of the award," said John Ryan, Tewksbury resident and Selectman," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"She's a legend in her time," Joan Dunlevy, lifelong Tewksbury resident and community activist, has been selected by the Tewksbury Rotary Club for the prestigious Citizen of the Year Award for her outstanding achievements. Dunlevy was honored at the Rotary Club installation of officers dinner.... 'Joan

Winchester offers free screenings

Winchester Hospital will be conducting free screenings for people at risk of Peripheral Vascular Disease (PVD), a potentially fatal disease affecting 8 million Americans. An early warning sign of stroke and heart attack, PVD is caused by blocked blood flow in the arteries of the legs and often causes pain or swelling, difficulty walking, numbness and skin discoloration.

Winchester Hospital is taking part in Legs For Life National Screening Week for PVD Leg Pain, Sept. 17 to 23. The program is sponsored by the Society of Cardiovascular & Interventional Radiology (SCVIR) and the National Professional Society of Interventional Radiologists. These physicians treat PVD and many other conditions using minimally invasive procedures, often alternatives to open surgery. The screening at Winchester Hospital is being coordinated by Dr. Richard Toran, an interventional radiologist and SCVIR member.

The screening will take place from 8 am to 4:30 pm on Saturday, September 23rd at Winchester Hospital, 41 Highland Avenue, in the Ambulatory Care Unit (ACU) on the third floor. People suffering from leg pain or other PVD symptoms can make an appointment which is required for a screening, by calling 781-756-2303.

Participants will be asked to fill out a questionnaire and information form to help determine their risk for PVD. A brief screening exam will involve taking arm and ankle blood pressure to further assess the potential of disease. Those appearing at moderate or high risk for PVD will be advised to see their physicians for additional evaluation.

Bicyclists ride to help the American Lung Association

Get ready and gear up for the 16th Annual Autumn Escape Bike Trek to benefit the American Lung Association. Cyclists of all abilities are invited to the exciting journey from Plymouth to Provincetown this Sept. 15-17, (Friday through Sunday).

The three-day, 160 mile trek takes hundreds of cyclists along the back roads and bike paths of scenic Cape Cod while helping your local American Lung Association fight lung disease, the third leading cause of death in the United States. The Autumn Escape Bike Trek route features some of the finest scenery in all of New England. Over three days, bicyclists will tour the Cape Cod Canal, the Falmouth Shining Sea Bike Trail, the Old King's Highway, and the cape cod National Seashore. A two-day option is also available for Trekkers who can only get away for Saturday and Sunday.

Corporate or other team trekkers are encouraged to ride. For the autumn Escape Bike Trek, a team consists of three or more co-workers, friends or family who register together.

The non-refundable registration fee is $40 per person and riders must raise a minimum of $400 in pledges (two-day trekkers must raise a minimum of $300 each). An ANSI approved helmet is required.

Teh Tek will provide lodging, breakfast and dinners, experienced leaders, a mobile bike repair shop, a sawwagon to carry gear, frequent rest stops, plentiful snacks, transportation from Provincetown to your point of origin in Plymouth or Sandwich, a communications and check point team for your safety, encouragement, and much more to make your Trek a memorable experience.

For more information about the 16th Annual Autumn Escape Bike Trek and how you can fight lung disease, contact your local American Lung Association at 1-800-THE LUNG or call 781-279-

WILMINGTON'S COREY MASSE is now the play-by-play voice on broadcasts of the Providence Bruins. He can be heard on game broadcasts on 550 AM.

WILMINGTON RESIDENTS RACHELLE SEE AND DANIELLE SPY were both part of the Spirit of Massachusetts Girls U15 club soccer team that recently won the Massachusetts Premier League (MAPLE) state championship. Competing against seven other MAPLE Division 1 teams in the state cups tournament, Spirit put on a defensive clinic, giving up just one goal in five games.

Sign up now for the WOMEN'S NINE-HOLE GOLF LEAGUE to be held at the HILLVIEW COUNTRY CLUB in North Reading. The league is currently underway. Prizes are awarded to each division for first, second and third, low gross, low net, and last place. Scores are calculated using the league point system. A weekly newsletter will be distributed. The cost of the program is $115. Interested participants can register by calling the Reading Recreation Department at 942-9075 or by stopping by Town Hall in Reading at 16 Lowell Street.

NORTH READING'S JUSTIN SCHAEFER helped the New England Lightning baseball team capture a silver medal at the AAU-13 and under National Championship tournament.

ment in North Carolina as a pitcher and outfielder. He allowed just 2 earned runs over 7 1/3 innings. During the state tourney, which the team had to go through to reach the national tourney, Schaefer hit .556 with 8 RBIs and 11 runs scored. He was also picked as MVP of the championship game, going 3-3 with a triple, a double, and a single with six RBIs.

Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? His last name is Howard.

THE NORTH READING YOUTH SOCCER GIRLS' U-12 A TEAM ended a great season this summer by winning the Commissioner's Cup Championship. The team finished at 6-1-3 during the regular season, than posted wins over Concord, Tewksbury, and a tie with Billerica to take the title.

TEWKSBURY'S BRENDAN STOKES, a participant in the 13-and-under AAU National Baseball Championships in Kinston, North Carolina, was named to the all-tourney team.

The Challenger Division of the Wakefield Little League is ready to start another busy season. The league is open to physically and mentally challenged children of all ages who would like to play Little League Baseball, including wheelchair children.

Games are held on Tuesday evenings and Saturday mornings and are open to children of all skill levels and any town. There is a small registration fee which will be waived for any family experiencing financial hardship.

For more information contact coaches STEPHEN CONROY at 944-7820 x. 238 or MAUREEN AND JOHN KOHLER at 245-4647.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The player was Frank Howard, in 1970.

Reality checks, class acts, the year begins

'Major' scholarship in Stoneham

In light of the recent euthanizing of Major, the 33 year old beloved polar bear at the Stone Zoo, the National Coalition for Educational and Cultural Programs is announcing the creation of the "Major the Polar Bear Scholarship" in partnership with the Stoneham Savings Bank. "We have selected the Stoneham Savings Bank due to their unsurpassed record of community involvement," said Bee Russo, an NCECP Director, "and their past support with efforts to reopen Stone Zoo and assistance with fundraising for initial renovations."

The goal of the "Major the Polar Bear Scholarship" is to keep the memory and the history of Major and the Stone Zoo alive and encourage a deserving Massachusetts high school graduate to pursue an education in an animal-related field. There will be an annual award of $500 and the first winner will be announced in 2001. The candidates must also have documented community service as part of the criteria....

NCECP is inviting anyone to contribute and is committed to matching funds for the first $500. All donations are tax deductible to the extent allowable by law and every donation will be acknowledged. As a non-profit volunteer agency, NCECP takes pride in their hard-earned accomplishments and steady growth since 1991. Hopefully, by setting an example, others with fond memories of Major and visits to his birthday parties over the years will join NCECP and the Stoneham Savings Bank in this scholarship effort.

Checks in any amount will be greatly appreciated and should be made payable to the "Major the Polar Bear Scholarship" and mailed to the Stoneham Savings Bank, Stoneham Square Branch, 359 Main Street, Stoneham, MA, 02180, Attn.: Customer Service. Questions about the NCECP or the scholarship may be directed to Bee Russo or Diane Edwards at 781-279-4658 or e-mailed to NCECP@shore.net.

Ready, set...in Lynnfield

"As first graders get ready to return to Summer Street School, they may want to add the following items to their families' back-to-school shopping lists," notes Lynnfield's "Summer Street School Newsletter."

"Washable markers (a small set of 'fat' and 'skinny' ones); pencils; 48 crayons; glue sticks; box of tissues.

"Parents and children should spend some time at the end of the summer labeling lunch boxes, jackets, sweatshirts, hats and books. By labeling these items with their children, parents demonstrate their expectations that their children will care for their belongings and children will know where to look for their names if other children have identical items.

"On the first day of school children may want to bring one of the books they read this summer to share with the class. Don't forget to bring your Summer Reading Record with your five favorite books started.

"Also, on the first day, if a child is going to be picked up instead of ride the bus home, she/he should bring a note to avoid any confusion.

"We will meet first graders at the side door the first day of school. We look forward to an exciting year together."

Real world view in Tewksbury

"A new program launched at the Trahan School promises more than just learning from books," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"It includes a hands-on approach that enhances children's learning skills and can be applied to real-life situations.

"It complements and reinforces the classroom curriculum as well as adding new experiences through hands-on practical work for the children," said Kathy Francois, coordinator of the program at the Trahan. "Its purpose is to educate and inspire the young people to value free enterprise and business economics, and to improve the quality of their lives through the subject materials."

"The Junior Achievement Elementary School Program includes seven grade-specific themes for kindergarten through sixth grade students. Its program teaches elementary school students the basic concepts of business and economics and shows children how education is relevant in the workplace. Each activity builds on previous studies and prepares students for secondary school and lifelong learning.

"Each theme is considered a building block to the next...."

State of the arts in Reading

"Reading Memorial High School Drama Coach Bill Endslo is often modest about his role in the achievements of the Drama Club, preferring to pass on the praise to his students," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"But there is one honor recently bestowed on him that he can't shy away from - Endslo's been named as this year's Distinguished Theatre Arts Educator by the Massachusetts Alliance for Arts Education (MAAE).

"The MAAE is a non-profit state-wide arts advocacy organization established in 1984 which annually recognizes individuals and groups for their exemplary efforts in student education in the fields of dance, theater, music, and the visual arts. The award, which was presented to Endslo on June 8 at a Boston State House ceremony, is given in recognition for superior teaching, professional leadership and commitment in arts education.

"Endslo has shown dedication in all three areas, through the establishment of a Drama elective at the Coolidge Middle School, to his tenure as Past President of the Massachusetts High School Drama Guild and in his recent challenge to Drama students to write their own script and design the stage setting for the production of 'Le Bossu,' a 'Hunchback of Notre Dame' inspired play.

"Endslo is an Art and Drama teacher at the Coolidge Middle School (as well as the middle and high school Drama Coach) and he received a sterling recommendation for the award from Principal John Doherty, commending him for his dedication to students and his love of the craft of theater. 'Perhaps the most worthy of this honor is that he makes every drama student feel important and a necessary part of the show,' Doherty noted in a letter to the MAAE...."

Ithaca College Dean's List

FALL FENCING CLASSES OFFERED

The Academy of Fencing begins its fall term on Monday, September 11th. Classes run for seven weeks. Children as young as six and adults of any age are encouraged to try this exciting and fast-growing Olympic sport. A safe, fun activity, fencing draws on centuries-old traditions of swordplay while improving balance agility and coordination.

The public is invited to drop in and observe during our open fencing hours, Monday through Thursday evenings from 8pm to 10 pm.

The cost for a seven week beginners' course is $110 and includes the use of equipment. U.S. Fencing Association membership is required.

The Academy is operated by the Boston Fencing Club, a non-profit organization. For more information about these and other programs, please contact Syd Fadner at the Academy of Fencing, 617-926-3450 or visit our web page at www.bostonfencing-club.org.

LA LECHE LEAGUE MEETING NOTICE

Mothers who wish to breast-feed their babies will find encouragement and information at the Melrose-Stoneham La Leche League.

The next meeting is September 6, from 7 to 9 pm, Stoneham City Hall, Banquet Hall. Nursing babies are welcome.

La Leche League offers mother-to-mother support at its monthly meetings based on THE WOMANLY ART OF BREASTFEEDING.

The meeting discussions include the latest medical research, as well as personal experience.

Other services include a lending library of books on childbirth, child care, breastfeeding, and nutrition. For further information, call Barbara 781-979-9322, Tina 603-635-3241, Francesca 781-862-4762, Kim 978-

521-5270 or Lucia 781-246-2059.

SOUTH END OPEN STUDIOS

The 14th Annual South End Open Studios will be held the weekend of September 16 and 17 from 11 am until 6 pm. Over 200 artists welcome the public to their studios in lofts, warehouses and renovated brownstones in Boston's historic South End sharing art that ranges from oil and watercolor painting to sculpture, ceramics, metal and glass and photography.

Information Tables are located at the Boston Center for the Arts, 539 Tremont Street; Rebecca's Cafe, 560 Harrison Avenue; and 500 Albany Street across from the Flower Market. Free parking is available at the Harrison Avenue and Albany Street locations. Self-tour guides and a free shuttle bus are also available at these locations and throughout the South End. Free to the public. For additional information, call 617-267-8862 or visit www.useaboston.org.

CHORAL SOCIETY BEGINS 70TH SEASON

The Andover Choral Society begins its 70th season and welcomes new members.

First rehearsal is on Monday, Sept. 11th at 7:20 pm at Christ Church, 25 Central St. Andover. All voice parts are welcome and no audition required.

Music director is Allen Combs, professional tenor soloist who teaches voice privately and at Phillips Academy. The January concert will be Hayden Mass in E Flat Major with English and French Horns and Stabat Mater.

For info call 978-687-8225.

EXSULTET! TO HOLD AUDITIONS

Exsultet!, an a cappella chamber chorus directed by Richard A.A. Larraga, seeks experienced singers, male voices especially, for its 2000-2001 season. Auditions will be held on September 6 and 13 from 7:30 to 10 pm at Holy Trinity United Methodist Church, 16 Sylvan Street, Danvers, (wheelchair accessible).

Prospective members will rehearse and audition in quarters. A prepared piece is not required. Plan to stay for the entire period. Repertoire includes music of Schumann, Copland, Barber, Berger and Stanford.

Rehearsals Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 10 pm. For more information, contact Richard Larraga at 781-329-1741 or e-mail; R2AL@exsultet.org. Visit our website at http://www.exsultet.org.

Brilliant

out and she was invited to crew on the trans-Atlantic voyage which, for Brilliant, started in New London and then came to Boston.

As Mystic Seaport spokesperson Tricia Wood notes, the whole idea behind Brilliant is to train people to work together "for the good of the ship."

According to Wood, Brilliant has been Mystic Seaport's sail training ship for more than 45 years - "the oldest sail-training program in the nation" - and has introduced more than 8,000 people to the lessons "a sailing ship naturally teaches."

Moffett has been the commander of the ship for the past 17 years and served on board before that.

According to Wood, "Moffett's philosophy holds that washing dishes in an unsteady galley is as challenging and important as plunging waist deep into the sea while hanging onto the bowsprit for a change of jib."

Moffett writes, "Even if you sail only one day of heavy weather with 24 hours of hanging on for dear life, wet, cold, and catching a wink of restless sleep you will never forget it. You will know the value of going to sea."

Oman talks of this experience when she wrote, "Certainly one of the most significant experiences related to sailing was the three days of relatively heavy weather we experienced about a week out. After three idyllic ocean passages (1996, 1998 and 2000 Newport-Bermuda Races) one begins to wonder whether 'the big one is ever going to hit.'"

Oman's understatement of the experience during the gale is more fully explained by Wood.

"Captain George Moffett reports that the crew is full of pride. The trans-Atlantic crossing held many challenges including a hatch and a mast boot leak that created a waterfall, according to Moffett, in the galley."

"The crew rotated on a 'three watch' schedule, 'hotbunking' and sleeping wedged on the floor to avoid rolling out of the bunks on the windward side of the ship. After five days of the 17 day voyage, Moffett described below deck as 'the aftermath of an undisciplined slumber party with bedding and clothing all about.' Gales often kept the crews sleepless and sequestered below deck, except for rain and wind driven watches, for days at a time."

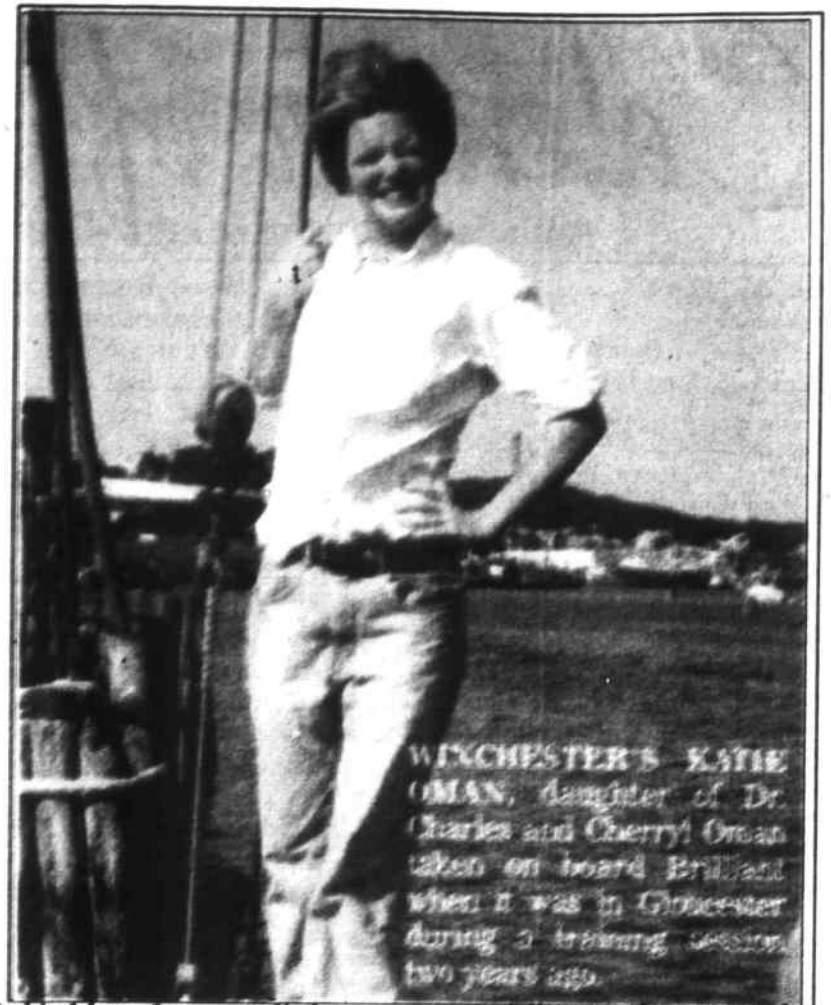

However, at the end of the gale, Moffett writes on August 3, "We have bright sunlight and fair breezes of 20 knots on the quarter as we ride up the northwest side of the high that has been so kind to us. All of the crew came out of the soaking below like rats out of their hole to lay on deck and take part in a field day of cleaning and airing and fixing various irritations such as the mast boot leaks."

"The stove is working fine and we made some water today, thus reducing anxiety. Spirits are so high we're having a party to celebrate being over half way even though that happened a while ago."

"At this moment we are 1890 nautical miles from Mystic and only 904 nautical miles from Bishop Rock."

"Balloons and party decor have appeared in the main cabin with special fixings from Lee, the wonder cook. The boat smells much better aired and the hunkering down survival mode, motion and mood is a figment of imagination."

Even with this experience

WINCHESTER'S KATHIE OMAN, daughter of Dr. Charles and Cherry Oman, taken on board Brilliant when it was in Gloucester during a training session two years ago.

behind her, Oman replied to a question on whether she would do this again and wrote, "Give me a few days to get rid of my sunburn and my s-a-legs and you'll find me on board something afloat not too long from now."

Oman will be spending a few weeks vacationing in Europe before returning to New York City and her new career with an architectural lighting consultant.

She writes, "I wrote my college admissions essay about my first trip on Brilliant. It was so obviously 'the life changing experience that I had had up until that time, that there was no question as to what to write about."

"Since then, I've been able to witness the value of sail training from a variety of different perspectives. As cook, I could watch the students mature and grow socially over the course of the weeks they were on the boat, and, during this trip, I was more observant of those qualities in myself."

Meeting students from other sail training vessels just emphasized the value of pitting yourself both mentally and physically against the task(s) at hand and living in close communion, not only with your shipmates, but with the sea, the spray and the stars."

As for Brilliant, this is the second trans-Atlantic trip it has won. It was also significant that the ship and its crew were able to break the win streak of the British ship Jolie Brise which had dominated the C1 class since the Tall Ships left Europe in April.

This is the second win for Brilliant over the Jolie Brise. The first came in the 1932 Bermuda Race.

Prepare your home for sale

Doing whatever you can to put your house's best face forward is very important if you want to get close to your asking price or sell as quickly as possible. Short of spending a lot of money, there are several steps people can take to make their home show better.

Sweep the sidewalk, mow the lawn, prune the bushes, weed the garden and clean debris from the yard.

Clean the windows (both inside and out) and make sure the paint is not chipped or flaking. And speaking of paint, if your home was built before 1978, new federal law gives a buyer the right to request a lead inspection. If you think you might have some problems, do the inspection yourself before hand and make any fixes you can.

Be sure the doorbell works.

Clean and spruce up all rooms, furnishings, floors, walls and ceilings. It's especially important that the bathroom and kitchen are spotless.

Organize closets.

Make sure the basic appliances and fixtures work. Get rid of leaky faucets and frayed cords.

Make sure the house smells good; from an apple pie, cookies baking or spaghetti sauce simmering on the stove. Hide the kitty litter.

Put vases of fresh flowers

Housing market in the Bay state cools a little

A modest slowdown in single-family home sales occurred across Massachusetts in the spring of 2000 as higher mortgage rates, a downturn in the financial markets, and a dwindling supply of homes for sale locally cooled market activity, particularly among entry-level buyers, according to data issued today by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR).

Average selling prices for residential property continued to rise steadily in the second quarter however, with housing demand remaining healthy and activity in the tradeup and second home markets especially strong.

Across the state, the MAR report found 12,949 detached single-family homes were sold in the Bay State during the second quarter of 2000, a decline of 11.1 percent from 14,558 units sold in the same period a year ago. Condominium sales also slipped from 3,838 in the second quarter of 1999 to 3,584 in the comparable quarter this year, a decrease of 6.6 percent. For the first half of the year, detached home sales are down 11.5 percent, from 23,839 units in the first six months of 1999 to 21,104 in the same period this year. Meanwhile, condo sales slid 5.6 percent, from 6,258 units last year to 5,909 in 2000.

"This spring may not have been quite as busy as the last two were, but it hasn't been slow either," stated MAR President Fred Meyer. "In terms of sales volume, activity may be down slightly but, in many areas buyers still outnumber listings with only a small let up in showings. Confidence in the housing market remains high among consumers. And, some have opted diversity from riskier returns in stocks and mutual funds by investing in the purchase of a home," he said.

Notably, the 16,533 detached single-family homes and condos sold from April to June 2000, make this spring the third busiest second quarter for residential housing activity in the state's history, surpassed only by the 17,878 single-family homes sold in the second quarter of 1998 and the 18,396 homes sold in the three-month period from April-June 1999.

Regionally, in the second quarter, sales of detached single-family homes fell in all seven market areas of the state from year ago levels was the logical choice for the Rotary Citizen of the Year Award because of outstanding long term commitment to the Town of Tewksbury," said Frank Amato, incoming President of the Tewksbury Rotary Club. "She has clearly shown her devotion to making Tewksbury a better place to live. Her vibrant personality and enthusiasm are infectious and inspire others to do their best."

"The Tewksbury Rotarians, longtime activists in their community, sponsor many programs. Their community service list includes such noted programs like the annual Pop's Concert, a 'Hat's Off' program which recognizes selected students at the high school for scholastic achievement, fundraisers for scholarships for high school students, and donations to various organizations in the town such as Vision House and the Teen Center.

"I was very shocked and humbled by the honor," said Joan. "It's nice of them to consider me." She says her life is a full one. Five generations of her family are rooted to Tewksbury. Five of her eight children still live in Tewksbury. She has seventeen grandchildren, a new grandchild was added last fall....

Meet A UPS Employee

Part-Time Package Handler and Part-Time Student

"The best thing about being a part-time loader at UPS is getting paid great money and staying fit from the physical workout you get on the job."

Students who work part-time at the UPS Chelmsford facility can receive up to $23,000* in college education assistance with the UPS Earn & Learn program!

Working as a part-time loader, this employee discovered that her part-time position at UPS benefits her physical well being as much as her bank account. "It's great. Why waste your time working out when you can get this benefit on the job and get paid for it? For me and many others, this job beats sitting around behind a desk somewhere."

UPS offers much more than you'd expect from a part-time job, like great starting pay, set work schedules, weekly paychecks and lots of great benefits.

Future plans include attending a four-year university and eventually getting a Master's degree in Sociology. In the meantime, the extra money helps offset the rising cost of tuition and books, allowing her to keep on track with her education goals. "With great starting pay and up to $23,000 through the UPS Earn & Learn college education assistance program, it just doesn't get any better than this in a part-time job!"

Take it from our employees - UPS is the best part-time job you'll ever have!

Totally Driven.

Totally driven to succeed. Totally driven to innovate. At TASC, our work environment is fueled by the desire to meet engineering challenges with first-of-a-kind solutions. Our world class clients wouldn't settle for anything

Contract Specialist

Set up and monitor contracts and budgets in our new PeopleSoft system. Interpret contract billing and revenue, and report requirements for internal and external customers. Track and resolve unbilled receivables, prepare funding and cost reports for external customers, interpret contractual requirements, and work closely with Project Leaders, Contract Administrators, and Accounting. Two to five years' experience in a contract/accounting environment or Bachelor's degree with two years' corporate related work experience required.

Staff Accountant

Support Billing and Collections activities. Duties will include researching and reporting of Days Sales Outstanding; assisting line management with research; supporting internal and external audit requests; and preparing various internal reports. Bachelor's degree in Accounting or Finance related field, one to three years' accounting experience, and spreadsheet skills required.

Financial Analysts

Provide financial reporting, analysis, and support to the Director, SBU Control and Financial Operations, and his staff. Areas of support include organizational budgeting and monthly variance reporting; IRAD/MTFCE; 10000 administrative support; weekly labor utilization reporting; monthly and quarterly financial briefings; special projects; and analysis in support of business plan development. Bachelor's degree in Business with up to two years' related work experience, preferably in a professional services environment, and strong analytical and spreadsheet skills required. Must be comfortable working in a deadline-oriented environment.

HVAC Mechanic

Perform preventative maintenance to all heating, ventilation, and cooling equipment and repairs to compressors, condensers, chillers, and associated controls. Calibrate thermostats, perform sheet metal alterations, and monitor control systems. Responsible for optimal operation of equipment and contributing to energy conservation programs. Act as the facility refrigerant coordinator, coordinate refrigerant purchases, and ensure compliance with CFC regulations and indoor air quality standards as defined by ASHRAE. Three years' experience as an HVAC Technician and a Massachusetts Master's Refrigeration License are required.

Editorial/Text Administrator

Edit and proofread all proposals and other documents as schedule permits for clarity, consistency, and adherence to TASC format and quality guidelines. Confer with authors, assist proposal leaders by assembling resumes, facilities statements, and other non-technical sections of the proposal; maintain editorial standards and format quality of documents produced in Reading. Document production guidelines and procedures; maintain written materials (revise, edit, and write as necessary); Secretariat Reference Manual, Report Preparation Manual, and how-to guidelines on formats and procedures for producing documents and training manuals for documentation and document management system. Production editor for Prism: rewrites, edits, and proofreads. Must be able to manage temporary staff including identifying need, calling appropriate agency, and directing temps. Must be a team player and a self starter. Must have the ability to interact positively with both MTS and administration, and be able to hold a project from beginning to end. Excellent desktop publishing skills required.

less, and neither would our staff. That's why we're able to attract some of the brightest people in the business, year after year. We currently have the following positions available:

Sr. Desktop Publisher

Produce documents in Word and PowerPoint. Produce basic text brochures in Quark, Illustrator, or Freehand. Collaborate with Web Master to up-load content and create type treatments to complement existing Web sites. Handle production and proposal coordination and some project management tasks. Must be a team player with a high degree of flexibility and willing to learn new software packages. Must be a "power user" in desktop publishing services including, but not limited to, the Microsoft suite of software.

Project Coordinators

Oversee everything from data research and management, to financial/business reporting and administrative support. Specific responsibilities include: providing weekly and monthly project status reports; working with program/project managers to support presentations, proposals and trade shows; coordinating department and project meetings and schedules; and facilitating customer, partner, and sales prospect visits. High school diploma and strong PC skills including Microsoft Office applications required. Experience as an Administrator or Secretary in a professional services environment desirable. Knowledge of Microsoft Project a plus, although training is available.

Maintenance Specialist

Perform general building maintenance and repairs, assist with plumbing and HVAC installations and repairs, and perform woodworking and carpentry projects. Additional responsibilities include installing systems furniture, painting, installing drywall, conference room set-up, copy paper inventory, and paper recycling. Must be experienced in using power tools, relocating furniture, and assisting with snow removal operations. Must be available to work overtime when required. Two years' general maintenance experience, ability to interpret user needs and analyze and solve mechanical problems required. Knowledge of light carpentry, use of hand and power tools, and building construction necessary.

Our organization looks for professionals who possess superior talent. In return, we offer excellent salary and benefits programs, along with performance-based career opportunities.
